

Quiet Week

Alison Marshall

1.12.12

The Wise men traveled by night.

As winter draws in we will look at how we might travel hopefully and live faithfully in dark places and dark times. We will draw on our own experiences and the writings of some of our predecessors on this journey of faith.

Ali has worked with people as daughter, wife, mother, friend, doctor and more recently as priest and soul friend. She loves the privilege of listening to other's stories and looking for signs of God's presence in the world, well that and walking in wild places or spending time with friends and family.
